AMABILE—Bright waxy orange scarlet blossoms, early blooming. Splendid rock garden lily and for low group planting in the front of your borders. Height 12 to 14 inches. Blooms June-July.

Larger bulb	4.00	7.85	15.50	30.00

BROWNI—The true Browni. A large trumpet marble white lily. Look upon it in the sunshine and see how the tones of the purple and green of the reverse side blend with the emerald green throat and cinnamon brown anthers. A wonderful lily.

Each $2.00; three bulbs $5.50; six bulbs $10.00.

CALLOSUM—A late blooming slender stalk with 10 to 20 re curved blossoms of an interesting shade of light salmon. While this little lily isn't as outstanding as the larger lilies, it is very dainty and its numerous blossoms blend with any flower in your garden. 2 to 3 feet. Late July-August.

12 bulbs $3.25; 25 bulbs $6.25; 50 bulbs $12.00; 100 bulbs $23.00.

12 bulbs $3.00; 25 bulbs $5.85; 50 bulbs $11.35; 100 bulbs $22.00

CANDIDUM (Madonna Lily)—The Madonna is the first lily grown in our great-grandmother's cottage gardens, and has remained a favorite down through the years. Pure white bell-shaped flowers with a delicate fragrance. It is unfortunate that in the past few years the leaves of this lovely lily have become susceptible to the brown leaf-spot fungus. This year I am securing bulbs from the dry sunny plains of Eastern Oregon where the blight has not as yet touched them. So if this Botrytis has already reached your territory, plant the Madonnas away from the other lilies. Blooms May-June. Height 3 to 5 feet. Please send in your orders early as this lily should be planted in July or August.

CERNUUM—At last I can offer you this beautiful little lily from Northeast China. The stems are slender and rigid with grass-like foliage. The color is a deep lilac-pink, spotted wine color and delightfully fragrant. There are not many of these lilies on the market as yet. Height 18 inches to 2 feet. June-July. Please place your orders early. I have a limited supply.

CONCOLOR—This is a delightful little "Star Lily", with dainty red blossoms looking straight into the sky—almost a rival of Tenuifolium in its "gayness". Excellent for mass effect or the rock garden. Everyone loves it. Ht. 12 to 18 inches. Early June.

DAVIDI—Rich orange-scarlet reflexed flowers, spotted black. A splendid garden variety. The flowers resemble its relative, Willmottiae, but its stalk is less flexible. 4 to 5 feet. July.

12 bulbs $5.00; 25 bulbs $9.85; 50 bulbs $19.50; 100 bulbs $37.75

GIGANTEUM HIMALAICUM—The giant among the lilies—the largest and tallest of them all. Sometimes the spike grows 10 to 12 feet, bearing numerous long tubular flowers of pure white tinged with purple inside, and the broad foliage is in keeping with the size of the plant. I am sending the correct size bulbs that will bloom the second year, in order that they may have the chance to establish themselves with new bulbs the first year after transplanting in your garden. If you have a northern exposure sheltered from the direct rays of the sun, it will be ideal for the Giganteum Himalaicum. June blooming.

Each $3.00; 3 bulbs $8.45; 6 bulbs $14.85

GOLDEN FLEECE—Large clear yellow flowers with light scarlet on tips of petals. One of the Dauricum group of upright lilies. Height 18 to 24 inches. Blooms June-July.

12 bulbs $5.00; 25 bulbs $9.85; 50 bulbs $19.50; 100 bulbs $37.75

HANSONI—This is one of the hardiest, disease-proof lilies in existence. Its thick petaled nodding flowers are numerous; golden-yellow in color, spotted brown, with pleasing fragrance, and the foliage remains green until late in the summer. It enjoys full sunshine but a little shade will preserve the deep yellow of its blossoms. Blooms June. Height 3-4 feet.

HENRYI (Yellow Speciosum)—Many soft golden-yellow blossoms with a tinge of light green through the center. Excellent for bouquets, opens readily in water from the largest to the tiniest bud. Your garden is not complete without a few Henryi. They love a shaded background. Mice won't touch them. (Remember, please, these are Oregon grown bulbs.) 5 to 9 ft. Blooms Aug.-Sept.

Each $1.00; 12 bulbs $10.00

MAHONY—Another one of the upright Dauricum lilies. Deep dark red in color, growing on sturdy stalks. 2 to 3 ft. Early June.

12 bulbs $4.00; 25 bulbs $7.85; 50 bulbs $15.50; 100 bulbs $30.00

PARRYI—Lemon-yellow, sweetly fragrant, low growing in higher altitude but tall in rich moist lowlands. You'll love this lily.

12 bulbs $5.50; 25 bulbs $10.25; 50 bulbs $19.75; 100 bulbs $38.10

PHILIPPINENSE—This is the Price variety and hardy anywhere in the United States. The long trumpet shaped blossoms are pure white with a slight pink tinge to the midribs externally. Very fragrant, slender, dainty, graceful. As it seldom grows higher than 18 to 20 inches, it is an excellent lily for your rock garden, providing it is not too dry. But best of all, it forms a wonderful foreground in your border.

3-4 inch circumference	$3.50	$6.85	$13.50	$25.75
4-5 inch circumference	4.75	9.25	18.15	35.95

REGALE (Regal Lily)—Of course this is the most popular lily, and so well known, it seems almost absurd to describe it. There really should be a slogan of "A Dozen Regals for Every Garden in the United States"—and those who have room, plant more. Then we could travel from shore to shore and inhale the fragrance of this beautiful white bell-shaped lily, with its deep orange throat and pink midribs, blooming during June and July.

SHUKSAN—This is another extra fine new hybrid of the Dauricum type. Flowers sapricine yellow with claret-brown to morocco-red spots. It is very graceful and will blend with any flower in your garden.

Each $1.00; 12 bulbs $10.00

SUPERBUM—A beautiful American lily—tall, vigorous, flowers recurving, yellow, spotted maroon and blending to orange-crimson towards the tips of the petals. 4 to 6 feet. July-August.

12 bulbs $3.00; 25 bulbs $5.85; 50 bulbs $11.35; 100 bulbs $22.00

SULPHUREUM—Sulphur-yellow with deeper yellow throat. It is a wonderful lily, very sweet scented and one of the latest trumpet lilies to bloom. We should grow more of this lily in our gardens. In the very coldest climates you can protect with your usual mulch in winter. 4-5 feet. August-September.

SUNSET—This magnificent red lily is the finest red lily yet offered you for your garden. It grows five to ten feet tall, blooms July-August, has luxuriant foliage, is extremely hardy and easy to grow, and is crowned with many beautiful blossoms, (see frontispiece). It thrives in sun or partial shade, likes plenty of water and good drainage, and as a background for your other lilies or in your border it has no superior. The clear red of this lily blending with its orange-yellow center, lends a tone of harmony rather than discord in your garden. I hope that some day the "Sunset" will be growing in every American garden.

TENUIFOLIUM—This is still the "gayest of little lilies". A bright cheery red that blooms early when we need a "blotch of red" in our gardens. 1 to 2 feet. May-June.

Blooming size	$1.85	$3.50	$6.85	$13.00
Larger bulbs	2.75	5.25	10.00	18.75

TESTACEUM (Nankeen)—An outstanding lily of soft apricot or yellow buff, whose demand far exceeds the supply. In some localities it demands extra care to grow it, but where you are successful, undisturbed clumps will give you a good bloom for years. It is the only lily of its color and truly worth the price. Height 3 to 5 feet. June-July. Plant this lily EARLY. Place your orders EARLY.

TIGRINUM SPLENDENS — Large improved tiger lily that brightens your late summer garden with its salmon red blossoms. Excellent for some neglected corner. Easy of culture, thriving in any good garden soil. Height 3-5 feet. Aug.-Sept.

	12	25	50	100
Medium size	$2.25	$4.25	$8.00	$14.00
Selected size	3.00	5.85	11.35	22.00

TIGRINUM FLORE PLENO—This is the only double lily I have. The word “lily” seems to associate itself in our mind with a single blossom, and we often resent a double lily, but I think you will find this double lily an addition to your garden, not only because it is an attractive lily in itself, but it will prolong the “reign of the Tigers” after most of the other lilies are gone. It grows 4 to 5 feet and blooms in Aug.-Sept.

12 bulbs $3.00; 25 bulbs $5.85; 50 bulbs $11.35; 100 bulbs $22.00

UMBELLATUM SPLENDIDUM—This is a very reliable lily, early flowering, many umbellate upright blossoms and with a dignified sturdy growth that makes it very welcome either in your June garden or for porch bouquets. Its flowers are a rich vermilion and orange, one of the most highly colored varieties of the Umbellatums.

12 bulbs $2.85; 25 bulbs $5.45; 50 bulbs $10.25; 100 bulbs $19.15

VERMILION BRILLIANT — Brilliant upright red blossoms, broad petals. One of the best of the red Dauricums. 18 to 24 inches. June-July.

12 bulbs $5.00; 25 bulbs $9.85; 50 bulbs $19.50; 100 bulbs $37.75

WASHINGTONIANUM (Mt. Hood)—A dainty white bell-shaped lily with many blossoms on a very graceful stem. The changing of the flowers from pink to wine color with age makes them very attractive. Generally it takes two years for Mt. Hood to make itself at home in a new location, but it is so dainty and sweet, I’m sure you will agree with those who so patiently waited, and say, “It is worth it.” The bulbs I have listed as “medium” below are a year older and larger than the “flowering bulbs” of last year, but I’m offering them at the same price as last year. They have bloomed here for two years.

Medium sized bulbs.....	$3.95	$7.75	$15.20	$29.00
Large bulbs	5.00	9.85	19.50	37.75

WILLMOTTIAE—The many orange-yellow blossoms, recurving, are borne on a very graceful stem with long deep green foliage, and the little black dots are almost like freckles on its yellow-orange face. It seems to almost breathe of life. Height 2 to 4 ft. July-August.

	12	25	50	100

Many Nosed Regale Lily Bulbs

Here is a real treat for your garden — many nosed Regale Lily bulbs that are from four to five years old. They will produce from three to six bloom stalks for you the very first season. The illustration shows what you may expect from this most beautiful lily.

3 Bulbs	$ 3.75
6 Bulbs	6.50
12 Bulbs	10.00
100 Bulbs	75.00

Six Bloom Stalks from One Bulb

I specialize in lilies, but I have also a few hundred other bulbs of the following:

MUSCARI (Grape Hyacinth)

These are deep blue, with nice long stems. Grow them in your rock garden or the foreground of your border—but, better still, plant them so they will form great clumps of blue at little unexpected places. You will find them delightful in the early spring. Please do not ask me to make shipment for less than 100 bulbs unless you are placing an order for other bulbs, too.

100 bulbs $3.00; 500, $14.00; 1000, $26.00

HYACINTHUS PLUMOSUS

This is somewhat of a novelty, but unlike many novelties, this plumed hyacinth is quite pleasing. It caused considerable comment in my field a couple of weeks ago, not only because it was unusual, but it is quite attractive. The supply on the market is limited as yet but as soon as the quantity is available, these plumed hyacinths will be used as a continuation of bloom wherever the Grape Hyacinth is planted—and particularly around borders as an edging. Try a few of them this year.

12 bulbs $2.25; 25, $4.25; 50, $8.00; 100, $14.00

MONTBRETIAS

The Large New Hybrids

These new hybrids are becoming exceedingly popular, especially "His Majesty", for a fall cut flower and as a bright spot in the garden along with the other autumnal flowers and gaily colored foliage.

They need a good protection during the winter, the same as the Gladiolus, or you can store them during the winter away from the frost. If you prefer to have them shipped to you next spring, and will place your order this fall, I will hold them here for you.

HIS MAJESTY—Very broad petals, deep velvety scarlet in color, shaded down to gold, measuring 3 or more inches across, with stems 4 feet long. This is the largest and finest of these new hybrids.

3 for 75c; 12, $2.50; 25, $4.95; 50, $9.65; 100, $19.00

LEMON QUEEN—Flowers creamy yellow with light yellow center. Very decorative. Lovely with "His Majesty".

3 for 50c; 12, $2.00; 25, $3.65; 50, $7.10; 100, $13.25

MIXTURE—This is a mixture of some three or four varieties growing mixed out in the field.

12 for $2.00; 25, $3.65; 50, $7.10; 100, $13.25

Hemerocallis--Day Lilies

These are the lovely NEW Daylilies. "I live but for a day, yet I bring you a fresh blossom tomorrow." It is a perennial, simple and easy to grow, pleasing and fragrant in the garden, and will make itself at home in sun or shade. These NEW varieties will delight you.

ANNA BETSCHER — Large flower of deep orange shaded with bronze. July and August. A very fine new one.

Each $1.00

BAY STATE — Brilliant and glistening deep yellow, the petals having a distinctive wavy edge. One of the heaviest and most persistent bloomers. Midsummer.

Each $1.00; 3 for $2.50

CINNABAR—Fine delicate shade of brownish-red; sepals and petals strongly gold-glistening. A ruddy and unusual color, with up to 18 flowers on a stem.

Each $1.50; 3 for $4.00

D. D. WYMAN—Very large flower of golden yellow, with a tawny splash across each petal. Midsummer.

Each $1.25; 3 for $3.00

HYPERION—Canary yellow self, of great size and bold growing habit. A new and quite rare variety.

Each $1.00

MANDARIN—Clear lemon yellow, with greenish cast in the heart of each blossom. Very tall, wide open, recurved type of flower.

Each $1.00; 3 for $2.50

MRS. W. H. WYMAN—A lovely glistening pale lemon yellow, with delicately curved petals. The latest of all.

Each $1.00; 3 for $2.50

MODESTY—Pale yellow self, with raised mid-ribs on reflexed petals. A distinct and very fine Daylily, blooming in June and July.

Each $1.50; 3 for $4.00

THE GEM—Deep yellow apricot, one of the earliest, with splendid lily-like flowers in June and early July.

Each $1.00; 3 for $2.50

WAU-BUN — Light cadmium yellow, faintly sprinkled with traces of fulvous red. Glistens with a golden sheen, and the broad petals are slightly twisted and curved. This is one of the new and scarce varieties.

Each $2.00; 3 for $5.00

OREGON HOLLYGRAPE

(Mahonia Aquifolium)

Because I wish to offer you something "truly Oregon", I am listing our Hollygrape—an evergreen shrub with attractive yellow flowers, blooming in dense clusters in early spring, and forming blue-black berries later in the season, as it changes into its winter costume of reddish brown foliage. These are nursery grown, and the size best for transplanting. Try a couple of them in some shady spot.

Each $1.50; 2 of them, $2.75

MATILJA POPPY

(Pronounce the "ja" like "Ha.")

The scientific name of this plant is Romneya Coulteri. It grows 5 to 8 feet high, producing a continuous growth of numerous beautiful white flowers with orange center, 5 to 6 inches across, delicate, transparent and delightfully fragrant. It blooms from August until frost and is a wonderful cut flower, keeping in excellent condition for two weeks, if the water is changed daily.

This perennial plant dies down each fall, reappearing in the spring, same as other perennials. It is perfectly hardy except in the states north of Philadelphia, where it should be sheltered.

I can give you good strong plants for $1.50 each. Of course this price includes delivery, the same as all other prices on my list.

"In the East stands snow-capped Mt. Hood, like a guardian angel o'er my lilies."

Items of Interest

Do you know of any other flower than the lily that can prolong its blooming period from May until September? Have lilies blooming in your garden all summer, and there is nothing prettier for your outdoor living rooms.

Candidum, Testaceum and Muscari are dormant in July—please place your orders early.

Will you kindly not send me orders for less than $2.00—the cost of delivery in the East, particularly, is so great.

I do not ship bulbs from my fields until they have budded to bloom at least one year. (Giganteum Himalaicum is an exception, as it should have a chance to become well established a year in your garden before blooming.) I pick off the flowers in their early stages or while still in bud to give the customer the benefit of a sturdier bulb. Thus I try to send out the very best bulbs possible to obtain. However, I cannot guarantee them to live or grow in your garden under conditions over which I have no control.

The bulbs will be shipped at the proper planting date, according to the time they go dormant. Lilies do not like to lie out of the ground longer than positively necessary, so please place your orders early, and I will ship them direct from my fields.

If you are not already a customer, kindly send your check with order.
